JOHN W. GATES LOSES BACK $35,-000 TO THE BOOKS.

Fails to Irek a Winner in Six Events, the Layers Getting square for Friday's Coup-Field Stand at Aqueduct & Popular Feature-Big Crowd Present.

Before the races at Aqueduct yesterday John W. Gates, who cleaned up the card at Jamaica on Friday, received his winnings from Charles Head Smith and other commissioners. He sat at a table in the club-house dining room and counted out thirtyeven $1,000 bills, which with other bills of different denominations made up a total of $44,000 which he had taken from the bookmakers. Then Mr. Gates prepared for another day's campaign with great confidence, The card to him looked easy and he opened the ball with a $2,000 wager on Beleast in the first race. This loss was only a drop in the bucket, so Mr. Gates, forgetting it readily, put another $2,000 commission on Waterford in the steeplechase, which also went up in smole. Trifles such as these did not bother him, however, for he was waiting for a plunge on Frank Gill in the Creedmoor Stakes. Charles Head Smith was soon busy in the ring putting down the Gates wager, which, it was said, was not far from $10,000. again the fates were against the Chicago man, as Gill ran third, a badly beaten colt. Passing over the e setbacks with perfect composure, however, Mr. Gates went to Dolly Spanker in the Aqueduct Handicap. He put all of $5,000 on the son of Kingston, his wager eading a play that backed Dolly from 7 down to 5. It was the same old story, Dolly running like an overfed cow. By that time Mr. Gates began to realize that the game was so easy after all. He did not like Ed Ball in the fifth because of the short price, so took a chance with McKittredge, playing him to win only with another fat bet that amounted to about $4,000. There was one race left and Mr. Gates decided to unbelt for the rest of the newly acquired bank roll. Monet was his selection and his agents simply swamped the books with commissions. got probably $10,000 down, the price dropping from 3 to 13 to 5, with the same result-Monet ran third. Incidentally he dropped $1,000 on Keene's Zambesi in the same race, which wound up his operations in a cloud. Unable to cash a bet all the afternoon, Mr. Gates lost at least $35,000 back to the layers, who fairly coined money on four of the six races.

The new field stand, a model of architecture and accommodations for the public, was opened for the first time and drew a crowd of 10,000 dollar pairons. The structure is of steel frame, with wooden walls and roof, and a seating capacity of 4,000. The lawn in front of it has room for 7,000 more, while the circular betting ring behind it is one of the most complete affairs on the circuit. Seventy-five layers did business there without a semblance of crowding. The jockey hung where 5,000 persons can copy the data with elbow room to spare, is perfeetly appointed. The dining rooms, retiring rooms and other conveniences in the stand cannot be excelled on any of the tracks. Yet with the opening of this new enclosure for the masses it could not be said that the attendance in the $3 stand and ring was injured in any way. In fact, the fine weather irew one of the largest crowds that has ever been seen at this popular track, which time will become the permanent home of the Brooklyn Jockey Club. More than one hundred automobiles were lined up in the field behind the track buildings, while the clubhouse was crowded with turf notables. Be-fore another year a new steel grand stand will probably be erected, in which Aqueduct will compare favorably with the biggest tracks in the Jockey Club circuit In the hig betting ring, by the way, the off ia bulletin board has been fitted with a large electric bell and a sign in the shape of a huge hand, which are used to call attention to various announcements. George Smith, the lieutenant of John G. Cavanagh, rang the gong at 1:30 yesterday for the first time, the announcement being that the first race had been postponed until 2:15 o'clock.

The pociroom men str ck an unexpected suagearly in the day. They had built a steel tower near the paddock from which they intended to secure an excellent view of the races; but, according to report, they put up the tower without first securing a permit from the Building Department. As a result ever 'rrests were made about noon yesterthe tower was quickly torn down.

The plungers and small speculators were grogsy when the sport ended. The first race was a sockdolager for the talent, from which few men were able to recover the rest of the Molesey looked the winner on form and there was a great play on him, Jack Bennett, George Langdon, Mattie Corbett and others betting on him heavily. Then Belcast was sent to the barrier a favorite over Molesey, while Yorkist was backed down to 4 by Al Dryer and others. Bob Smith cleaned up with Royal Ben, but, strange to say, Cora Price, who had won her two previous races, was allowed to go up in the betting. The money won by the books on Belcast, Molesey and Yorkist enabled the layers to sit back and take all sorts of chances in the succeeding events.

The smart fellows did not care especially for Yama Christy in the steeplechase, but bet all kinds of goin on Waterford and Orthodox, the defeat of these jumpers netting the books another bundle.

Thousands were burned up by Frank Gill in the Creedmoor, as he was practically backed off the boards. John A. Drake had a solid bet on Barbary Belle in this race, and so did E. R. Thomas and Sydney Paget. The Canadians lost a bunch on Purslane. Waterbury, who ran into the place, was ignored at 12 to 1. Previous winners of the Creedmoor were Nevermore, Juvenal Maxim, Pirate Polly and Jacobite. Frank Lord, who has bowed a tendon, was scratched out of yesterday's race, the Sullivans adding Ace High so as to have a rooting interest.

The Sullivans never lost faith in game little Rye, who won the Aqueduct Handicap. Chrystie Sullivan bet enough to take $15,000 from the books, but he stood alone. With Dolly Spanker and the two-year-old Philander backed down several points to 5, Oxford, heavily supported, closed an equal favorite with them, their failure netting thousands for the chalkers. Bad News was sent to Latonia the other day, but he was shipped back here for this event and with Pickett up Owner Bradley got 40 to 1 for a good bet three ways. Cinette, Coy Maid and Belmere were all well backed, so that the books fairly revelled in wealth after the race. Glenwater, Wild Thyme, Israelite and Bedouin were the previous winners. When Ed Ball opened at 7 to 10 favorite in the fifth race there was so little support for him that the word was soon passed around that he would not do. Then it was that a plunge on E. R. Thomas's Onatas took place which reduced his odds from 5 to 2 to 9 to 5. Ed Ball, as a result, went up to even money, when Jack Bennet, his owner, began to put his checking down all over the ring. As HeKittredge was also heavily backed both rays the ring won by this rues also. Jack Joyner scratched Cressina and sent Watergrass to the post in the last race. The ip was not accepted, however, and Watergrass, opening an equal favorite with Monet, west up to 6. The ring received tremendous backing for both Monet and Jack Dolan, with Zambesi played from 7 down to 5. Fish Hawk was taken across the slates at 10, 4 and 2. Altogether the 200 layers at the track out up probably $200,000 winnings on the

The Crescent A. C. opened its traps at Bay Ridge for the season of 1906-07 yesterday with a card of eight events. The monthly cup shoot was won by S. P. Hopkins with a handicap of 1 and a score of 23. The feature of the day was the shoot for a special trophy presented by T. W. Stake, the referee of the day's shooting. The trophy, a handsome bronze cup, was a prize for the highest average for the afternoon, it being necessary to shoot at 100 targets to qualify. Dr. Hopkins proved the winner of this event also. A consolation shoot at 15 targets was won by A. E. Hendrickson with a handicap of 2 and a spore of 45. There will be a special meet on election day, with a team match and holiday cup shoot.

Brooklyn Nomads Win at Rugby.

Another game at English Rugby football, between the Brooklyn Nomads and the Yonkers Football Club, was contested at Van Cortlandt Park yesterday afternoon, resulting in a victory for the Brooklynites by a score of 2 tries (6 points) to 0. Yonkers won the toss and Brooklyn kicked off. After some keen scrimmage work the Brooklyn forwards took the ball over, Tomey falling on it for a try. Craigie took the place kick, but failed from a difficult angle. After the restart the Brooklyn forwards were again very much in evidence and Finch, after a good kick and quick follow up, scored a well earned try in a good position. The try for goal, however, again failed. Score, 6 points to 0. During the second period the game was more evenly contested, and as no further score resulted the game ended in favor of the Brooklyns by the figures named.

Next Saturday the Brooklyn Nomads will play a game at Van Cortlandt Park against the University of Pennsylvánia, play to begin at 3:15 o'clock in the afternoon. in a victory for the Brooklynites by a score

Syracuse May Drop Out of New York State Baseball League.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 3.—The New York State Baseball League at its fall meeting last night officially awarded the 1906 pennant to the Scranton (Pa.) team. The annual meeting of the league will be held in New York on the night of January 8.

It developed at the meeting that this is the only city concerning which doubt exists as to its continuance in the league. George E. Kuntzsch and T. C. Gri in, owners of the Syracuse team, said that Syracuse will not play next year unless new grounds are provided. They will not use new Star Park, where two weeks ago to-day the bleachers stand fell, injuring 150 persons, one of whom, a Catholic priest, died. last night officially awarded the 1906 pennant teeplechasers That Run Best Disqualified in Two Races-Many Spills Over the Jumps-F. Ambrose Clark Wins on the Flat-Hunting Set and Society Attend.

MANY ODD RACING INCIDENTS.

Amateur jockeys opened their fall meetings esterday at the pretty course of the Great Neck Racing Association, on Gracefield Farm, Great Neck, L. I. The silken coats made brilliant splashes of color on the green of the polo field, on which the flat races were run, while the steeplechases were over an outlying course of five hurdles, a post and rails, water jump and Liverpool, which the horses traversed three times. All the route had a plain marking with flags, yet although this was the third year of the meeting the best horses in two of the races, Adjutor and Grey But, were disqualified for going the wrong course.

A. Belmont Purdy was the judge, J. H.

Bradford starter, and H. S. Emerson was the weighing in clerk at the swinging armchair scales. R. Lawrence Smith, William Halloway and E. P. Alker galloped about in unt club uniforms as patrol judges. L. V. roment, with his arm in a sling, from the all in the Grand Military Steeplechase at Washington, was an onlooker, with P. F. Collier, W. Burling Cooks, W. Gould Brokaw, Willard Roby, Samuel Willets and a host of Long Island's hunting men. Society from the South and North shores was represented in the line of automobiles and vehicles along the outer side of the stretch and on the cosey grand stand. For the last two races every one rowded into the polo field. Among the onlookers were:

Miss Anita Peabody, Miss Constance Crimnins, Mrs. August Belmont, Jr., Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr.; Miss Katherine Barney.
Miss Aline Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald
Brooks, Mrs. W. R. Grace, Sr., Miss Louise
Grace, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan H. Grace, Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Barrett, Mr. and . F. D'Oench, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Wortley, Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson Cowl, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Scott Cameron, Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., Miss Lucille Alger, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. King.

"Do you notice F. Ambrose Clark schooling Mrs. Kernochan's Cresset over one of the jumps?" asked a patrol judge of Judge Pardy before the second race. "He should be fined or disqualified, under our National Hunt rules.

Gresset did not keep the sourse anyway, and there was no need to discipline the rider. Judge Purdy fold him as Clark weighed out what he had been told. I gave Cresset a couple of practice jumps, precisely as Mrs. Kernochan asked me to do, was the peppery response from Clark. "You or any one else who objects knows very little or any one else who objects knows very little about steeplechasing."

As Clark was in the wrong it seemed a petulant answer to a man who had ridden withing steeplechases at Jerome Park and left the cradle. So said the old guard, who knew A. man rider. Besides Mrs. Elouse Kernochan of the Meadow Brook nunt, Mrs. Tom Pierce sent her colors to the post. It was the lirst, time at the meeting that two women were carded as owners.

There was a funny finish to the last race, a steeplechase for ponies. W. Gould Brokaw's Grey Bird, Clarence it. Rooding up, ran in the lead for two miles and over, making a tine finish from Wiseman, as it happened poorly named, for it was a mile and three-quarter race. Brokaw's other entry, Stepaway, with E. H. Carle riding, was a good second until the pony fell. Then Van Schaick's Simper, Fletcher Harper in the saddle, ran second to Grey Bird. After once over the water jump Simper turned into the stretch and left Grey Bird and Wiseman's to rate along and beat themselves.

Simper wos, followed at a long distance by Peter and Colorado, both riders keeping to the proper course although at the heels of the hunt. Mr. Roobbissaid after he infished that Patrol Judge Smith had told him to take the water jump twice. The information was wrone. and three-fourth course at the scales it was the jockey's duty to study it. All the others did this, a precantion that saved the race for Simper. Mr. Robbins would have been disqualined, anyhow, as he ran outside of a red flag. With Stepaway down and Grey Bird disqualined it was an unlucky race for W. Gould Brekaw.

Five met i, the opening scurry, at half a mile, for a cup presented by Harry S. Kerr. Useful Lady ran much faster than at the Mineola Fair sprints, seemingly preferring turf to a dirt track. The mare carried H. H. Rawlin's colors, and with James O'Brien up led all the way. I seful Lady won by a couple of lengths, with the others bunched. Blue Print, in the middle of the bunch, gained second place. Victory Belle was third by a head from Grey Sam, who finished with a rush on the outside of the field.

Eight were called to the post for the second race, a steeplechase of three miles, for the Nirvana cup. Rosebank showed in front for a spell, but lost its rider, Louis Baljer, at the third jump. Then Kismet made play, well rated by J. P. Grace, and led to the last round, attended by Maple Leaf, Mr. Stevenson; Virginian, Mr. Hayes, and Lam Marcus. Mr. Webb. Sam Marcus and Lam Marcus. Mr. Webb. Sam Marcus and Lam Marcus. Mr. who in the pole field. The three raced as a team to the next hurdle, where Kismet went down. Mr. Grace had a shaking up and skated along on his face to the detriment of its plump-appearance, but he rode again in the next race all right. Virginian dropped Mr. Hayes a few strides beyond this jump, leaving Mr. Stevenson to finish alone on Maple Leaf. The others had all gone astray, but Sam Marcus and Zip, ridden by W. H. Emory, Jr., a son of Rear Admiral Emory, were ridden out for second and third places.

They finished for the third race, about one-quarter of a mile on the flat, between two flags post the grand stand. Judge Belmont Purdy placed a chair at one side of the im-promotu post and, in the spirit of vigilance, took his stand upon it. Presently ten of the fastest ponies in America came charging at the chair, aligned in cavalry formation. It was not a time to hesitate to make notes of the horses that were off the course. Judge Purdy skipped to the side lines with mar-vellous quickness and saved his life. The win-ning pony took the vacated chair as it would a burdle.

vellous quickness and saved his life. The winning pony took the vacated chair as it would a borde.

The ten made a good race, Alfred Borden having Whirlwind under the whip from the start and holding a scant lead past the grand stand. A shining circle of white skin, made evident by the loss of his cap, enabled the crowd to single Borden out easily.

"Go it, Baldy," shouted the outsiders, in irreverent paraphrase of the Scriptures. There was a punishment directly for those who had said, "Go to, thou baid head," for Borden lost the race by a yard. Live Wire, running kindly under Mr. Carle, who did not use whip or spur, won the race. Copper King, a winner at this meeting last year, was third, Mr. Valentine up. The others were been been done to be posses for records. Those to have mounts, aside from the placed men, being J. O'Brien, R. B. Baker, C. H. Robbins, Allan Pinkerton, R. F. Carman, Jr., Joseph P. Grace and F. Ambrose Clark.

There were four starters in the open steeplechase for Mrs. Vanderbilt's cup. Adjutor, Hayden up, and Kersey, with Jay O'Brien in the saddle, had a pretty rice of it. They alternated in the lead, chased all the way by Gold Van, Mr. Bell of Bayside riding. Turning for the run in on the flat, Adjutor had the lead by a length, with Kersey running well under the whip. The two riders k vung wide and charged directly on the crowd of women and men before the stand, but they heeded the warning cries and got their nags back over the barrier board for the finish. Adjutor, by a length from Kersey, who led Gold Van by two lengths, was the order.

Before Judge Partly hung up any of the numbers R. Lawrence Smith, M. F. H. of the Smithtown Hunt, who was a patrol judge, galloped up to report that both Adjutor and Kersey had cone outside the red flags on the second round. The judge had no option but to give the race to Gold Van. There was no second or third, as Adjutor and Kersey were disqualified, while the other starter. War Paint, McDermott up, had gone astray on the first round.

Paint, McDermott up, had gone astray on the first round.
There was a crowd about the stand while Judge Purdy had the complaining patrol judge before him, but no dissenting notes from the backers of the two to be disqualified, which is one of the advantages of only subress hookmaking. Gold Van is owned by Mrs. Tom Pierce of the Myopia Hunt, whose led a party of Bostonians in wild applause, for they had thought the race a lost cause. Hunters had the call in the Martin Hall cup steeplechase. W. Russell Grace's Willie Price, the champion hunter of Long Island in such races, had the enthusiastic following of the grand stand and fielders. Willie Price led on the first two rounds, with Bathsquada making a very good race of it as the second horse. Tobassa and Dr. Fitzsimmons went off the course, but Sir Ellerslie, the best hunter in New Jersey racing when owned by Charles Pfizer, Jr., trailed in third place. Sir Ellerslie started for the first time in Fletcher Harper's colors, who had the mount.

At the hurdle on the polo field for the last round, Mr. Harber rushed Sir Ellerslie into the lead for a few strides. Mr. Grace had only to shake up Willie Price to regain the lead, but Sir Ellerslie made a game fight over the next two jumps and through the straight run home. It was a fine fluish, for Sir Ellerslie gained ground on the flat, but Willie Price, to the howling glee of the Great Neckers, won by half a length.

One of the prettiest races was the half mile dash for maiden horses, which had six starters. Alfred Borden kept the lead with Miss L until the last few strides, when F. Ambrose Clark got up with Halidmoe and won by a neck. Handsome Belle, Allan Pinkerton up, was third, lapping on the two leaders. The others were strung out. There was one turn, the straight run in being agross the polo field and the finish before a mass of onlookers. The steeplechase, in which the ponies were mixed up, closed the card.

There was but one bookmaker—the regular who never misses these meetings. He put up evea money against Willie Price and 4's to 8's against the other winners. Bettors who looked for odds against Willie Price, however, found 2 to 5 the only offer. The summary:

ton's Scheme of Rating Players. The fall tournaments in lawn tennis have een com leted in four of the universities. At Princeton L. K. Richardson successfully defended his title, and as a result is placed the top of the list in the Princeton rating. Harvard had a big tournament, many more players entering than are found in any tournaent outside of Newport. F. J. Sulloway champion in 1904, carried off the title again At Massachusetts Institute of Technology John I. B. Larned for the second time wo the singles title. He used to play at Harvard before entering "Tech." Columbia had a rather successful tournament. The winner furned up in a new man named T. M. Hen drick, a Californian.

At Princeton the players are rated each year, something that is not done at any other college. The matches that the men played throughout the season are kept track of, and in the fall following the championship tourney the ratings are announced. This is a good scheme and one that if followed everywnere would help tennis handicap committees where would help tennis handicap committees generally.

The ratings for this season just announced are as follows: 1, L. K. Richardson; 2, McLeod Thomson; 3, A. D. Beers; 4, P. Norton; 5, F. G. Appel; 6, M. T. Pyne; 7, S. Gordon; 8, R. Stockton; 9, C. J. This ranking is based on three things—the scores of the recent tournament, past tournament record and the quaity of playing in recent tournaments. The ranking is purely temporary, and may be changed in the following way: Each player may challenge the man ranked next highest, a. d., if the challet ge is not accepted within three days of date on which challenge was given, or if the challenger wins, the challenger moves up one place. If beaten, he cannot rechallenge the same player until he has beaten the man next below him. Another ranking will be announced at the close of the season.

COLUMBIA BASKETBALL.

Big Squad Reports for Practice and Good Team Is Assured.

A big squad of men reported for the first Columbia basketball practice, which was held last week, and from present indications Capt. Cuthel has great hopes of developing from the squad an intercollegiate champion five It is a long while since so much available. material of such good calibre has reported for any Columbia team. Four of the regulars on last year's team are back. Hurley, last year's captain, is back and in far better condition than he was last fail, when the strain of a football season detracted from his work on the court detracted from his work on the court. This year he ought to play at guard in the brilliant form he displayed 'wo years ago, when he was unanimously blaced on the all American five. Jack Ryc., last year's centre, is also back, but will have to hustle for his position unless he roands into form faster than he did last year. Medities, the little sophomore who distinguish d himself the latter part of last season, soms reasonably sure of a position again, as does capt, tuthel. With these four men on it, the team will present some strong contrasts. Ryan is 6 feet 2 inches tail and weights nearly 200-pounds, while Capt. Cuthel, former coxswain of the crew, is 5 feet 3 inches in height and weights about 145 pounds. Melitzer is not much larger than Cuthel.

For the other position there are several candidates. At present it looks as though it might go to Major White, who played the early part of last season. White is a fast man, but better on offensive than on defensive play. R. Graham and C. L. Hall are two other candidates who are looming up for a position. There are also some new freshmen who are showing up well.

In order to keep as many men at work as possible, two teams will be organized and of complete schedule with athletic clubs and Y. M. C. A.'s arranged for the second as well as the first. Those men who fail to make the varsity will in this way be kept in touch with actual playing conditions and develop for next season.

The question of a coach has not been deyear he ought to play at guard in the brilliant or next season. The question of a coach has not been decided. H. A. Fisher, who was expected to coach the team, is too much occupied with business to rar it more than occasional attention. It is likely that the team will train with no regular coach at all but that several old players will attend practice frequently and give their assistance.

COLLEGE OARSMEN WIN. Columbia Varsity Crew Defeats Nassau

B. C. Eight in One Mile Race. A big crowd of graduates interested in the new rowing methods at Columbia witnessed annual fall regatta, which took place on the Harlem River yesterday afternoon. The principal contest on the programme was a race for one mile between Columbia and the Nassau Boat Club, which was won by the Morningside m'n. Particular interest was shown in this because in the Nassau crew were Jerry O'Loughlin, captain of the 190 Columbia crew, and A. J. Fraser, who stroked the 1904 Columbia varsity crew and who is credited with being one of the best strokes that ever sat in a Columbia boat. C. W. Cuthel, who for four years sat in a Columbia ooat as coxswain, steered the Nassau crew. At the beginning Columbia took the lead and held it half the length of the course

At the beginning Columbia took the lead and held it half the length of the course. Durant, however, was hugging the west shore, and in consequence had to go much further on the tura in the river than did the Nassaus, who were on the other side. As a result the varsity lost considerable ground and at the finish succeeded in winning out in a spurt by a bare quarter of a length. No official time for the race was taken, but several who held watches on it pronounced it good.

The interclass race for fours was not completed, there being time for only two heats. 1909 beat 1910 by about two lengths. Between 1907 and 1908 the struggle was much closer and finally went to 1908 by a small margin. 1908 will row 1909 for the championship to-morrow.

The race between the second varsity and the graduates was looked upon with interest because the two crews represented the old and the new style of rowing. Robinson at No.6 in the second varsity had the misfortune, however, to break his oar soon after the struggle began and was useless for the rest of the race. Against the weakened crew the graduates won out by about three lengths over a course three-quarters of a mile long. In the graduates' crew were four former captains of Columbia crews and two former strokes, making as notable a collection of Columbia oarsmen as was ever got together. The summaries:

Chrystie Sullivan's Rye, neglected by the ublic at 6 to 1, was victorious in the Aqueduct Handicap, for all ages, at a mile and a six. teenth. This event was an open betting affair, with Dolly Spanker, Philander and Oxford equal favorites at 5, the first two receiving the bulk of the support from the mart speculators. Belmere, Ginette and Oz. ford made the pace close together until the where Finn moved up with Ry?, who won by length and a had from the des; ised Bad News, 40 to 1, who hat Oxford by three lengths.

The latter quit at the sixteent's pole and just osed Ginette out of third money. Philander was never dangerous, while Dolly Spanker was outrun at all stages and stopped badly when the pressure was put on by Miller.

Carman's Waterbury, 12 to 1, prominent always, ran second, a length and a half in front of Frank Gill, a heavily played favorite, who seemed to be too heavily burdened. George Odom's Oraculum, 10 to L was half a length out of the money. The race was run straightaway.

The Bonnie Brook Stable's Yama Christe.

time was 1:46.

E. R. Thomas's Barberry Belle. 11 to 5,

9 to 5 favorite, who closed on equ'l ter as with W. Gould Brokaw's Waterford backed down from 3, won the Woodside Steeplechase, about two miles, in the hottest kind of a drive. The latter thred in the last quarte; of a mile. Orthodox, 4 to 1, jumped poorly, and had no speed. The time was 4:22 2-5. The books cleaned up a bundle on the first
